Saturday, January 16, marked the completion of another successful Milam County Junior Livestock Show. A total of 125 entries representing towns and communities from throughout the county showed off the results of hours of hard work as 4-H'ers and FFA members competed in the one day show.

Tom Woodward and John L. Deans served as judges for this year's affair. Both men were from the Animal Science Department of Texas A&M. The judges commented that the quality of the stock and participation from the contestants was excellent.

The show got into full swing at 10 a.m. with the judging of some 12 dairy animals. Grand Champion of the division went to Bruce Thaler of Rockdale. Bruce won the award with his Holstein heifer.

Reserve Champion went to Roger Rodenbeck of Thorndale. The best showman in the dairy division also went to Bruce Thaler.

Top honors in the fat lamb class went to Lynn Laywell of the Countywide 4-H Club. Reserve Champion went to Juliann McDaniel, also of Countywide 4-H Club. Both animals were Hampshires.

A total of 21 lambs were entered in the division. Ed Laywell, chairman of the Junior Livestock Show Association served as lamb superintendent.

The market hog class was the largest of the show with a total of 43 hogs shown.

Planners work well ahead of doing.

Mayor E. A. Perrin twice in two days earlier this week explained what planners are anticipating by 1990 will be the shape of things in highways in the Cameron area.

For a decade we have been hearing that Texas Highway Department officials were considering options for eventual bypass of this city.

The possibility of taking US 77 around Cameron to the northeast or bypassing Cameron with SH 36 and US 77 southeast.

Mayor Perrin said highway thinking now for future development goes like this:

When traffic count along existing Fourth Street and North Travis reaches overload capacity, SH 36 would be brought south of Cameron somewhere outside the present city limits, intersecting with the present SH 36 somewhere west of Cameron city limits.

US 77 would continue to go through Cameron on Fourth Street because highway experts anticipate heaviest traffic count on SH 36, emenating from Houston heading west across West Texas. SH 36 is one of the few east-west lateral through highways in Texas.

111-111-111

Officials have not said what capacity is on SH 36 - US 77 combined before the proposed split system would be built, but are projecting toward 1990. Even they cannot tell at this time how soon such bypassing might be necessary.

Mayor Perrin noted before Chamber directors Monday the SH 36 bypass would give a south margin to the city, leaving the US 77 throughway a northern margin for central city development. He referred to the changes which would result with downtown urban renewal and potential radiation outward of development beyond the designated urban renewal area.

He emphasized he was pointing out these possibilities so that leaders and citizens could view the possibilities themselves and give opinions on which option they thought best.

111-111-111

Cameron will be bypassed by 1990, and most likely before that time. Traffic

Census Shows Drop In Milam Population

First Counts List Gains For 2 Cities

Preliminary 1970 population counts reflect a loss in farm population with 11 of 17 Central Texas counties showing a drop from the 1960 count.

Milam County, with a 12.0 percentage loss had two towns, Thorndale and Rockdale, reporting a gain in population. Rockdale had a 4.1 percentage gain (4,481 in 1960 to 4,664 in 1970); Cameron had a 3.3 loss (5,640 in 1960 to 5,455 in 1970); and Thorndale showed a 2.9 gain (995 in 1960 to 1,024 in 1970). Big drop was the rural population which showed a 15.7 loss in the 10 year period.

Travis, Coryell, Bell, Brazos, Madison and Williamson counties all showed population gains in the 1970 census, however all were lower than estimated growth before the '70 census.

Coryell showed a 45.1 gain with Copperas Cove more than doubling in population; Travis had a 36.5 increase; Bell had a 29.0 increase (largest growth factor was Killeen); Brazos County had a 24.9 increase; Madison a 5.7 gain and Williamson a 2.8 gain.

Montgomery County, just north of Houston, showed the state's biggest population gain with a 74.9 percentage jump from a population of 26,839 in 1960 to 46,950 in the preliminary 1970 census. Hardest hit by the latest census were the west Texas counties of Loving and Foard. Both showed population losses exceeding 33 percent.

Percy Millard, regional director for the Bureau of the Census said that as of April 1, 1970, the population of the State was 10,989,123 according to the preliminary count.

"This figure represents an increase of 1,409,446 or 14.7 percent from the 9,579,677 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census," Millard said.

The census reports show the following population figures for Central Texas counties and towns:

McAnulty said the water corporation presently has 530 members.

The line will run from the Williamson County line across Milam County and into Burleson and Lee counties. Main tank site will be an overhead storage tank on the Lester Williams property at San Creek.

Another overhead tank will be located on the Leroy Caffey property at Salty and a ground level storage tank will be built on the Burkhead property on FM 908.

City, County Officials Hear Manpower Plan

County officials met with city councilmen at their regular session Tuesday evening to hear details of a manpower training program offered through the Central Texas Economic Development District.

Councilmen also heard the third in a series of preliminary reports on Cameron's master plan, and ordered a city election for April.

Meeting with the council, County Judge O. B. Harden and Commissioner LaVert McKinney heard a presentation by a representative of CTEDD, who explained the program available to the county and to cities for training people in public service careers.

Only cost to the participating counties would be 2 cents per capita, or less than $400 for Milam County. Mayor E. A. Perrin noted that this cost could be shared by cities who wish to benefit from the training program.

The federally-funded program offers training to upgrade skills of present employees, and to new employees. The representative listed several fields in which training is available, including certification of water and sewer workers, heavy equipment operators, teachers aides, general maintenance aides, buildings and grounds, and law enforcement officer certification.

Council approved participation in the program if county officials and other cities agree to the proposal.

Maps and drawings showing existing street conditions and proposed major thoroughfares were shown to councilmen by Walter Albritton, engineer working with South/West Planning Associates on the city's master plan. Albritton also presented a study of the city's water system and sewer plant.

W. R. Faulkner, of South/West Planners, and C. D. Englishbee, Office of the Governor, Austin, also met with the council, which is studying the preliminary plan reports.

Report No. 3 covers Cameron community facilities -- schools, parks and recreation, and general facilities.

The city election will be held April 6. Terms of Councilmen Starrett Hickman, Lawrence Zotz, and Robert Clark will expire on that date.

In other business, council approved repair of electrical outlets in the band pavilion at City Park, and construction of additional foot bridges across the ditch next to the park.

Buckholts Sets Trustee Election

March 4 is the deadline for filing in the trustee election for the Buckholts Rural High School District. Terms of Doyal Arnold and Alvin Fuchs will expire this year.

The election will be held April 3. Candidates must file not less than 30 days before that date.

Candidates may file at the school superintendent's office or at the County Superintendent's office.

FIREMEN ANSWER CALL

Cameron volunteer firemen were called Tuesday night to a fire at 1000 N. Emancipation. Minor damage was reported to the home, occupied by the Jessie Brown family.

Date Set For Annual Yoeman Football Banquet

The annual Yoeman football banquet has been set for Monday, February 15, Yoe Coach Hal Stanislaw announced this week.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Pat Culpepper, Baylor University coach.

Highlights of the banquet will include presentation of a trophy to the "Outstanding Yoeman of 1970," and naming the Football Sweetheart.

The Yoeman Booster Club, sponsors of the banquet, will present other awards, including one to "Booster of the Year."

The banquet will start at 7 p.m. at Methodist Fellowship Hall. Tickets will go on sale in about a week, Stanislaw said.

Poage Reports Change For 'Set Aside' Land

Cong. W. R. Poage advised Monday that the Department of Agriculture announced that for this year they will rescind their regulation requiring that a crop has been harvested from "set aside" land the last three years.

Douglas Buck, Milam ASCS office manager, told The Herald that this announcement is of importance to county farmers.

Buck said his office is expecting a full news release from the State ASCS office, and will publicize details as soon as possible.

Somewhere Across The Board...

Numerous alternatives are articulated as solutions to the 62nd Texas Legislature's problem of financing upward to $800 millions in new biennial revenue.

Wise would it be that any talk of deficit spending be quashed. The federal government is going to have this year an estimated $20 billion deficit. Most major Texas cities and practically every school district are in financial need. Neither national nor regional dilemma conditions the taxpayer for deficit spending at state level. It would require a Constitutional amendment to enable such action in Texas.

That leaves the question of where revenue comes from. Political futures are on the line with solutions.

Governor Smith is upset because House Speaker Gus Mutscher first passed the ball to him by asking, almost compelling an earlier statement from the Governor that normally given to the Legislature, which the Governor is doing. Lt.-Gov. Ben Barnes notes distress in terming this session's promising to be historic in fiscal drama.

The alternatives?

--Extending the sales tax to presently exempted items, such as food and drugs.

--Establishing a state income tax.

--Establishing a corporate income tax.

--Increasing taxes on commodities like gasoline, cigarets consumer items like whiskey, beer, and automobiles, and lifting agriculture items execpt from sales or excise taxes.

State Sen. Murray Watson tells the press it is likely a combination will provide the funds, somewhere between $600 and $800 million new tax dollars.

What happens when nobody wants more tax? Everybody pays.

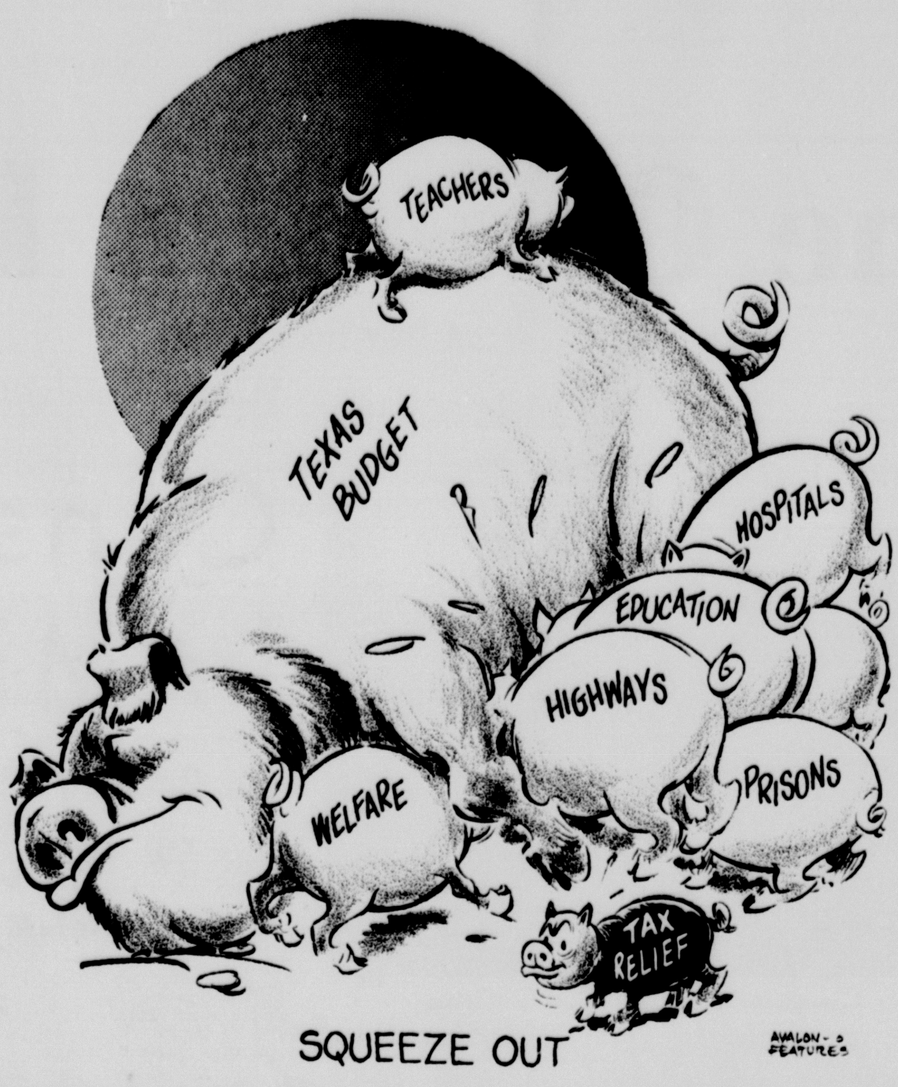
We think the sales tax, without much increase in the percentage, will be expanded over most exempt items.

We think the hint of a state income tax may be started. Texas is the last major industrial state without one. But it will likely be another two years before it means anything in real income. It is likely someone will try to get federal legislation compelling redistribution of federal tax revenues, one, to the state, and two, separately to the cities. Somebody in Texas may push the next Congress for such legislation.

Many consumer items bear heavy taxes in Texas, the cigaret tax one of the nation's highest, for example. But popular support would go more for additional loading there than, one, a state income tax, or, two, an increased percentage of any proportion in state sales tax. Most Texas cities and towns have one percent returning on the sales tax and would question advisability of raising it inordinantly.

Rep. Dan Kubiak says state government must set the example in eliminating non-essentials. But an industrial state's problem is knowing what is most essential. Education, welfare, services of all types are in greater demand in Texas. And few if any modern Texans would stem the flow of industrial development in the state at the sacrifice of healthy growth, now the nation's fourth largest in numbers and therefore, employment.

It will be a big tax bill, any way the Legislature cuts it. We shall pay for our progress, hopefully without new forms to fill out in state income taxes, but realistically across the board for essentials as well as luxuries which we swore last vear we could do without and didn't.



OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

A neighbor of mine came over yesterday and handed me a newspaper and said, "Here, read this item. Silliest thing I ever heard of."

The item reported a man had just won the world's record for riding a ferris wheel non-stop. He rode the thing for 20 days, 16 hours and 30 minutes, beating a man who had ridden one for 16 days.

I got to thinking about this and at first I agreed, it does sound ridiculous. Puts me in mind of the man who was proud of the fact he had breakfast in New York, flew to Los Angeles for lunch, caught another plane and was back in New York for supper.

That seems to me like going a long way to eat three meals, when I can get three any day without going more than 50 yards, and not even that far if I don't feel like it.

I understand the airlines are now using planes that hold 350 people and will fly you from New York to London in four hours and show you two movies on the way over. If you don't want to sit still you can walk around, go up to the upper lounge, etc., and I suppose it won't be long till they'll be equipped with a swimming pool and possibly a bowling alley and a putting green.

In fact, what they seem to be working on is a mode of travel that's fully as good as staying home.

This guy on the ferris wheel, he may be ahead of his time. If the only difference between traveling and staying at home is the motion, a ferris wheel in their backyard would sure help a lot of people from cluttering up the airports of the world.

Understand I'm not opposed to travel by other people, but I've noticed that a person on a round - the - world trip, if he hasn't got much sense before he starts out, isn't likely to have any more when he gets back.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

62nd Legislature Settling Down To Serious Business

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Texas' 62nd Legislature is prepared to settle down to serious business after hearing recommendations of Gov. Preston Smith as to priority duties.

Legislature's first week was spent largely in organizational preliminaries. However, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes named a full Senate committee roster, and the subpanel of the Senate appropriations committee began hearings on the budget.

Lawmakers were reluctant to talk much about where they would find up to $850 million in new taxes until they heard "the governor's plan." Smith's message to lawmakers was set for the day after his and Barnes' second term inauguration.

Meanwhile, bills piled up in hoppers of both houses during the "lull." Among them was the $7.5 billion all-funds state biennial budget draft prepared by the Legislative Budget Board. It would require an estimated $576.4 million in new revenue, and that was regarded as a minimum.

House Speaker Gus Mutscher was elected to a second term without opposition. Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon was unanimously selected as Senate president pro tempore -- an honor which carries with it the privilege of serving as governor for a day, probably next April.

Proposed constitutional amendments already introduced would lower the minimum voting age to 18, remove the $80 million a year welfare spending ceiling, provide four-year terms for state officials and call for annual legislative sessions.

Hundreds of bills already have been submitted. Some of the major ones would require drivers to have liability insurance before they can get a driver's license or auto plates; set up an independent Texas Air Control Board; split the Parks and Wildlife Department; allow individuals to bring anti-pollution suits; and abolish recognition of common law marriages after 1971.

WELFARE CRISIS GROWING

Lieutenant Governor Barnes warned Senate budget writers that emergency funding is necessary to prevent some welfare allocations from running out altogether.

He said money for aid to families with dependent children and medical assistance might be exhausted by May or June unless the Legislature provides early supplements.

Barnes urged special attention to welfare problems.

Welfare officials confirmed a reduction in AFDC is likely "not later than March" if no additional money is provided. A reduction in "Medicaid" would result in "losing the whole program," they said, due to strict federal matching requirements.

Welfare Department is asking a $34.9 million emergency appropriation to maintain the current level of aid to the needy, drawing AFDC and regular medical benefits.

Barnes is ordering a check to determine if local expenditures for medical welfare could be channeled through the state treasury and thus attract additional matching federal aid on a two-to-one ratio. He thinks the procedure may make a substantial "saving" in state money.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith appointed Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson of Johnson City, Dr. Joe Thomas Nelson of Weatherford and A. G. McNeese Jr. of Houston to the University of Texas board of regents.

He named H. C. Bell of Austin and Bill Lewie Jr. of Waco to the Texas A&M University board of directors.

Smith also named:

-- Searcy Bracewell of Houston as chairman of the Texas Water Development Board.

-- William C. Black of Belton as 146th district judge.

-- Charles D. Travis of Austin as executive budget director.

-- Rudy S. Davila of Austin as training specialist in Texas' office of Economic Opportunity.

-- Mrs. Jeannette Watson of Austin as interim director of the Early Childhood Development program for the state.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court held that water permits not used for 10 years can be cancelled by the Texas Water Rights Commission. Decision reversed the Third Court of Civil Appeals.

In other decisions the High Court:

* Sustained the district court which held that two Fort Worth firms could not violate the Sunday closing law.

* Upheld lower courts that a Corpus Christi cab driver does not have to pay a city license fee to drive his cab in the city when he is licensed by the state to transport passengers.

* Stuck by its December 2 decision sustaining lower court findings that a suit claiming discrimination in membership against San Felipe Country Club must be re-tried.

OPINIONS BY MARTIN

--One who gets a occupational driver's license (while his regular license is suspended) is not entitled automatically to return of his auto registration receipts and license plates, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

* State employees who held city offices but resigned them may receive their state pay.

* Deer killed on the land of another, without his consent, should be released to the game warden -- for charitable purposes.

Martin issued a warning against mail solicitations which closely resemble a bill for merchandise.

REPUBLICANS ON MOVE

Texas Republicans named Dr. George Willeford Jr. of Austin as their new state chairman and began laying their plans for joining in campaigns of President Nixon and Sen. John Tower in 1972.

Willeford said GOP needs to change its face, and deal in specific issues rather than "in platitudes about things like fiscal responsibility."

GOP leaders insisted the appointment of Democratic former Gov. John Connally as secretary of treasury enhances chances of both Tower and Nixon. Tower predicted he will win and said he doesn't care who the Democrats run against him.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Lost at the Laundry

Katherine went to the neighborhood laundry to pick up her week's wash. But the proprietor greeted her with bad news.

"We had a burglary last night," he said, "and your bundles were stolen. I'm afraid you are just out of luck."

But Katherine decided that he, not she, ought to bear the loss. Filing suit for damages, she pointed out that the back door of the laundry had only the flimsiest kind of a lock, even though the building had been burglarized before. The court found the proprietor guilty of negligence, and ordered him to pay Katherine's claim.

When you leave clothing at either a laundry or a dry cleaner, you are creating what the law calls a "bailment." The company, as the bailee, must take reasonable care of your belongings. Although not to blame for an unavoidable loss, it is liable for a loss it could fairly have prevented.

Suppose the company tries to protect itself by a notice saying it is not responsible for losses of any kind. Does that make a difference?

Most courts will recognize some limitation, but not a total denial, of the company's liability.

Furthermore, a notice has no legal effect unless it is properly brought to public attention.

In one case a laundry inserted into each finished bundle a small printed notice, placing a dollar limit on its liability for losses. But when a customer demanded payment for some missing items, the company was held liable in full. The judge said the dollar limit could not be part of the bailment contract, because it was not even mentioned when the clothing was first brought in.

On the other hand, the company too is entitled to "notice" of what it is accepting responsibility for. In another case, a man negligently left a ring in the pocket of a suit he sent to the cleaner. The ring vanished, and he put in a claim against the company for compensation.

But after a court hearing, his claim was turned down. The court said he could not blame the company for losing what it did not even know it had.

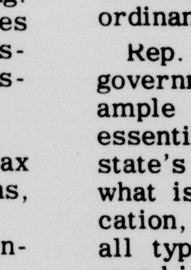
"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP



(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

SENATOR CHALLENGES 18-YEAR-OLD VOTERS

SEN. MIKE MANSFIELD (Mont.) ". . . The Supreme Court has just ruled constitutional--at least in part-- the action taken by Congress to extend the vote in national elections to all citizens 18, 19, and 20 years old. In my judgement, that opinion will live as one of the most--if not the most--significant decisions the high Court has handed down in its long history. . .

"Up to now, the youth of today had a legitimate grievance. For all their interest, for all their work and effort, for all the opinions they expressed; nothing counted. Nothing they did or could do for that matter made much difference. They were denied the ballot. They could not vote. They could not directly influence policy decisions at the polls. . .

"Up to now, at 18, a young adult was treated by our courts as fully responsible for his legal actions--both civil and criminal--and were made to suffer the full penalties of the law. Yet they could not pass judgment on the men chosen to enact those laws. They got married. They paid taxes, too, but had no real voice in the imposition of those taxes. In short, up to now the full responsibility has been on us, the other generation. We have borne the full burden of our actions as they have affected young people. And our actions affected young people to a great extent.

"Now much of that has changed. With this opinion, the Supreme Court has opened the way for joining the youth of today with the youth of yesterday. With this opinion, the Supreme Court has shifted the burden and placed it where it belongs-- on the young people themselves--on those who have raised their voices and pointed their fingers. on those who decried and criticized for being saddled with responsibilities and obligations that in many cases they neither sought nor sanctioned.

"I welcome their fresh approaches; their criticisms; their interest and concern. The fact that some young people exhibit disdain for certain of our institutions should in no way reflect upon the great majority of our youth. With the vote they will establish themselves quickly for what they are: Alert, interested, mature, and concerned. Henceforth their judgments cannot be ignored. Given the vote, these young people have been challenged to prove their worth and the value of their contributions to our system. . ."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

The "silent majority" of mature young people will no longer be silent. Their presence will be felt, where it counts, in the voting booth. The ranting few will lose the spotlight.

The Senator made a good point. The 18, 19, 20-year-old voters will be challenged to prove their worth in future national elections. -J. C.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE WADE JONES

Ceremony Unites Milam Couple

Miss Sharon Marie McLerran became the bride of George Wade Jones at St. Monica's Catholic Church on Saturday, January 9, at 2 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Barney McLerran of Route 1, Cameron. Mr. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jones of Ben Arnold.

Baskets of white gladiolas trimmed with greenery and white satin bows framed each side of the altar. Rev. John T. Geiser performed the ceremony uniting the couple at a nuptial mass. Traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Bessie Friemel, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white kittne peau satin fashioned by the bride and her mother. The neckline of the bodice, front panels of the gown, and the edge of the tapered full-length sleeves were trimmed with imported French lace. The lace also outlined the chapel length train which fell from a high waistline.

Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of petals of white seed pe 's and crystal beads.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white carnations centered with a white orchid and outlined with pearls and white satin streamers.

Miss Dianne McLerran, sister of the bride, was the maid-of-honor. Miss Julia Vaculin and Miss Mary Jones, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. They wore A-line turquoise kitten peau satin gowns accented with imported velvet ribbon which also trimmed the round neckline and outlined the pleat at the back, which fell from a high waistline. A velvet bow topped the pleat. Their head-pieces were fashioned in the shape of a rose from the same material, and a double layer of tulle fell from the rose. They carried cascades of turquoise-colored carnations trimmed with white satin.

Billy J. Jones, brother of the groom, was best man. Wayne and Randy McLerran, brothers of the bride, were groomsmen. Ushers were Joseph Vaculin and Bill Ellis.

The flower girl was Elaine Hamel of Dallas, cousin of the bride and also of Dallas, was ring bearer.

Altar boys were Albert Hanel and Donald Hanel, both of Cameron.

The bride's mother wore a beige lace dress with beige accessories. The groom's mother chose gold with black accessories, and both wore white carnation corsages.

A reception was held in the Simon George Parish Hall following the ceremony. Miss Patricia Jackson of Rockdale, registered the guests.

The bride's table was covered with white linen with an overlay of white net trimmed with white satin bows and streamers. The bride's and her attendants' bouquets centered the table. The appointees were of crystal.

Serving in the house party were Miss Connie Ellis, Miss Phyllis Hanel, Mrs. Anton Hanel, Mrs. Billie J. Ellis, Mrs. Ted Kuehl, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. W. E. Kuehl.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kurtz and daughter Diane, of Huntsville; Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Hamel and family of Dallas; Mrs. Irene Hamel of Boston, Massachusetts, Rev. Paul McCallum and mother, Mrs. McCallum of Rockdale.

The bride is a 1969 honor graduate of Yoe High School and is presently attending Temple Junior College. The groom is presently employed with the Alcoa Works of Rockdale. The couple will make their home in Cameron.

'Trees of Beauty' Is Garden Club

Mrs. B. D. Clark was hostess at her home, assisted by Mrs. Sam Houston, when the Civic Garden Club met for their January meeting last week.

During the social hour an assortment of fruit cakes, nuts, fruit juice and coffee was served to members and one guest, Mrs. Florence Markham, from the dining table.

The program for the month, "Trees of Beauty", was in observance of Arbor Day. The Kodachrome slides program with commentary was prepared by the Texas Forestry Service. The program stressed conservation measures employed to preserve trees which took many years of growth to attain their size.

Aesthetic value of forests was also stressed - "for beauty which is in the eye of the beholder, for hikes and nature study, camping and scientific studies." The program also pointed out that trees are significant in helping to combat air pollution.

Mrs. Sapp also displayed a large collection of leaves which the club members tried to identify.

Mrs. Milton J. Falkner, president, presided for a short business session. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

Mrs. Leo Fuchs, president; Mrs. Milton Falkner, vice president; Mrs. John W. Sapp, recording secretary; Mrs. Nona Lindsay, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. E. Crook, treasurer; Mrs. W. M. Fanning, parliamentarian; Mrs. Sam B. Houston, historian; Mrs. B. D. Clark, time-keeper.

Teachers Group Views Ethics Code

The Cameron Classroom Teacher's Association met Monday, Jan. 11, in the Cameron Junior High School Library.

The program included a discussion of the proposed Code of Ethics for Texas teachers developed by the Governor's Advisory Council. Ideas and discussions from other Classroom Teachers' Associations were presented.

Each certified Texas teacher will have the opportunity to vote on this Code in February.

Acting Makes Her World Go Round!

What happens when an actress plays a part over and over again? Eileen Fulton, known as Lisa in the television serial AS THE WORLD TURNS, has found out that more likely than not, people will mistake the actress for the character.

For more than ten years, Eileen has portrayed amnesia victim Lisa. Recently she was recognized by a well-dressed couple, and during the ensuing conversation, the wife cautioned her husband not to ask too personal a question because "she's suffering from amnesia and it might cause a mental setback." Eileen has also made her mark in the night club and theatrical worlds — at one time she was simultaneously appearing on the TV serial in the afternoon, in the off-Broadway play "The Fantasticks" nightly, and in matinee performances of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" on Broadway.

Lately she has entered the realm of literature with her best-selling autobiography, How My World Turns. Eileen's own life is very much like a TV drama. Reared as a minister's daughter, she struggled to be free — to be herself. Her action-packed and amusing story tells how she earned her hard-won freedom and fame as an actress. Eileen's candid story of how she succeeded is something every woman can identify with — especially the dreams of a young girl who wanted fame and glamour.

The world really has been a stage for Eileen Fulton, and How My World Turns discusses the anecdotes of the theatrical world — everything from the problems of being an actress to the choice of costumes to special acting techniques.

For Eileen, acting always will make her world go round.

With Posy Printed Spreads—

Flowers Bloom Here The Year 'Round

SPRING FRESH—Orange walls and carpeting create the perfect backdrop for Desley-Edson's quilted cotton bedspread splashed with spring flowers. Matching draperies at the window and a covering for a small round table continue the theme. Making the most of limited space, the corner of the recessed bed area takes a handsome bamboo unit. Luxurious comfort for reading is provided by a well-proportioned chair covered in deep green velvet.

MEXICAN-FLAVORED DECOR—A rustic and colorful look pervades this bedroom, cheered with a bright floral-printed cotton bedspread and matching floor-length draperies by Desley-Edson. The Mexican-flavored headboard and chest are antiqued in a soft blue-gray effect to harmonize with the fabric.

Speedy Grocery Checkout Possible With Computers

A computer for checkouts at the grocery store, which would mean speedier checkouts and savings for the consumer, has been demonstrated for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, announces Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension specialist in consumer marketing.

The computerized checkout system was demonstrated by Virginia Knauer, Presidential Assistant for Consumer Affairs, at the Agricultural Research Service Office of the USDA.

It is the first working trial model.

The system consists of an electronic scanner, held over the product that reads the code label and records the price, name amount and other identifying data about the item.

The customer receives a detailed list of items purchased, prices, tax and number of stamps due.

The computer records this information and maintains an inventory by name and automatic ordering information for shelf replacement. It does not, however, handle fresh produce -- items such as lettuce or unpackaged carrots.

Both time in the checkout lines and consumer money can be saved by installing the computers. Also, the system will save clerks considerable time and may encourage lower food prices.

Few problems remain to be worked out, but the computerized checkout system offers possibilities, Mrs. Clyatt says.

Meeting Set For Home Gardeners

By J. D. Moore

Dr. John Larsen, horticulture specialist in home garden vegetable production from Texas A&M will discuss vegetable production in a meeting to start at 9:30 a.m. in the conference room of the First National Bank in Cameron January 26.

Those interested in vegetable production are urged to attend this important meeting.

LOCATION OF GARDEN

When selecting your garden site, consider: 1. convenience to home, 2. fertile, well drained soil with slight slope for surface water drainage, 3. availability of water for supplemental irrigation, 4. adequate sunlight and 5. lack of competition from trees and shrubs.

Many gardeners will have to compromise on some of these points because of limited land area.

If part of the proposed garden is shaded by trees or buildings during part of the day, grow leafy vegetables (greens) that can stand more shade than root vegetables. Root vegetables can stand more shade than vegetable fruit plants such as tomatoes and peppers.

If the garden is near trees or shrubs, extra water and fertilizer or a raised bed will help eliminate competition from tree roots.

FERTILIZING

Well rooted barnyard manure supplemented with 100 to 200 pounds of 20 percent phosphate (0-20-0) per ton of manure is an excellent material to apply to garden soil.

For best results, spread at the rate of about 1 gallon per 1 to 5 square feet and incorporate it to a depth of 8 to 10 inches.

This word of caution -- if soil P.H. (acidity) is lowered drastically by adding concentrated manures, blossom-end rot may occur in tomatoes. To prevent excess acid, add lime at rate of 15 lbs to an average size garden (1/8 of an acre).

When manure is not available, apply 25 to 30 pounds per 100 square feet of commercial fertilizer such as a 5-20-10 for silt loams and clay soils or 5-20-20 for sandy soils.

Broadcast about 3/4 of the fertilizer and mix it into the soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. Apply the remainder in bands on both sides of the row, about 1 to 2 inches from the seed or transplant and 1 to 2 inches below the seed. Do not allow fertilizer to contact seed, stems or foliage.

Fertilizer may be spread between the rows and then cultivate or water it into the soil.

Further dicussions on mulches and irrigation are discussed in a fact sheet L-911, available at the county agents office.

Successful Year Reported For 1970 Screwworm Program

The Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program reported the lowest number of cases in its history for 1970.

Program officials credit the successful year to:

Getting sterile flies to target areas faster as cases were confirmed; careful analysis of the screwworm spread and planning of sterile fly drops; cooperation of livestock owners in reporting cases and a generally bad year for many species of flies.

But no let up on the part of stockmen in submitting samples of worms taken from animal wounds is advised by program officials.

IRS Questions

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - Can a child born before the end of the year be claimed as a dependent for the whole year?

A - Yes, as long as the dependency tests are met for the balance of the tax year in which the child was born.

Q - I didn't have a job until I moved here. Does that mean I won't be able to deduct my moving costs?

A - You may be able to deduct your moving expenses if you meet certain requirements. First, your new job must be at least 50 miles from your old home.

Secondly, you must be a full-time employee in your new location at least 39 weeks during the 12 months following the move.

In fact, anyone moving to accept a new job as well as someone transferred to a new location by his present employer may qualify. Under certain conditions, self-employed persons are entitled to the deduction.

For details, contact any IRS office for a free copy of Publication 521, "Tax Information on Moving Expenses."

Q - I didn't pay any estimated tax this year and now I find I'm way under-withheld. What should I do?

A - File an estimated tax declaration, Form 1040ES, as soon as possible and pay whatever should have been paid by this date. This will reduce the penalty for underpayment of estimated tax. Form 1040ES and instructions may be obtained from any IRS office.

Q - What's the deadline for reporting the Social Security tax I withhold for my cleaning woman?

A - February 1 is the due date for the Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees for October, November and December.

Q - If someone dies during the year, does an income tax return have to be filed if there was any income or earnings?

A - Yes, the same general tax filing requirements apply to taxpayers who are deceased. There are special provisions, however. For details, contact your local IRS office and ask for a copy of Publication 559, "Federal Tax Guide for Survivors, Executors and Administrators." It's free.

W-2 Form Needed For Tax Refund

Tax refunds cannot be paid without required W-2 withholding tax certificates and credit cannot be given for taxes withheld, according to A. P. Andrews, administrative officer of Internal Revenue Service at Temple.

Taxpayers were also reminded that in preparing a joint 1970 return, where both parties worked, W-2's for each must be attached.

And when either or both parties filing a return held more than one job during the year, all W-2's must be attached. W-2's should be attached to the back and top of Form 1040.

A taxpayer who has not received his W-2 Form should contact his employer before checking with IRS. If the employer has gone out of business, the taxpayer should contact him or the present owner of the business.

If the Form W-2 is still not available, then the taxpayer should contact him or the present owner of the business.

If the Form W-2 is still not available, then the taxpayer should prepare his income tax return from the best information at hand, file his return by the April 15 deadline, and attach a note explaining why the Form W-2 is missing.

New Program To Fight Pollution Replaces ACP

By Douglas Buck

The new Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) for 1971, emphasizing a broad attack on the environmental problems created by the Nation's farming operations has been announced.

Announcement of the new program, formerly known as the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), permits resumption of the Federal cost-sharing of various beneficial conservation practices with farmers, but under a restructured program in line with modern day needs to better both the on and off-farm environment.

It makes farmers partners in the venture between the Federal government and State, city and local governments to deal with the pressing problem of pollution.

The restructured program will be used to help preserve the environment, demonstrate good environmental enhancement practices, and return more public benefits at less public cost.

Although the specific level of funding for 1971 has not been determined, the 1971 program will be funded, and the Congress will be requested by the Administration to provide funds for the 1972 program.

Emphasis on the farm side will be on those practices contributing the most to the improvement of conditions for both the general public and farmers.

Major considerations in authorizing cost sharing of any practice installation will be the resulting public benefits such as pollution abatement, enduring soil and water conservation, recreation, wildlife, and open space as well as the degree of permanency achieved.

As a result, the practices offered under the program have been structured to provide enduring benefits, significant pollution control, and enhancement of the environment for all.

WATER POLLUTION

A major thrust will be to reduce water pollution which results in large part from agricultural, industrial and municipal wastes.

Water retaining and retarding measures on farms such as dams and ponds, permanent grass cover, waterways, buffer strips, and treet plantings will be stressed.

These will be directed toward reducing silt in streams, rivers, lakes and other bodies of water and toward reducing pollution from animal wastes, fertilizers and pesticides.

Off-farm benefits will be promoted by concentrating funds to solve community environmental problems through special projects and pooling agreements.

Under these, for example, the funds available to a community could be used exclusively to get permanent cover and other water control measures on farmland in a watershed to reduce the build-up of silt in a municipal water supply reservoir.

PROGRAM DETAILS

Under the program, the Federal government will pay about 50 percent of the cost of practices that achieve permanent benefits. Practices that provide temporary benefits will be available only under certain circumstances and at a reduced level of Federal cost sharing.

Practices that are good farming techniques that should be performed routinely and practices that are income - producing to the farmer will be de-emphasized in favor of those having benefits for all citizens.

The program will be run in each county by locally elected farmer committeemen. Under farmer committeemen. Under broad Federal and State guidelines, the committeemen will select the practices best suited for meeting the needs of their area; determine which farm land needs treatment; and within the county's allocation of funds fix the amount of cost sharing to be provided each farmer.

Thus, the program provides for a high degree of local determination.

It recognizes that privately-owned land is a major source of pollution, but that good management of this land can also be a major factor in improving living conditions for all citizens. By sharing the cost, the program will enable farmers to undertake measures that their limited resources would not otherwise permit.

Recommendations will go to the Congress during the next few months to modify the program's basic legal authority in order to broaden the program's capabilities to deal with farm-produced pollution.

The program will be administered by the Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The Department's Soil Conservation Service, Forest Service and Extension Service will provide technical and educational assistance.

Grants For Small Museums In Committee Proposals

AUSTIN

Seventeen recommendations including grants for small museums, emerged as the concrete results of a five-month study by the Speaker's Special Committee on Historical Preservation. The group was created in August of 1970 by Speaker of the Texas House Gus Mutscher. It has been chaired by State Rep. R. B. McAlister of Lubbock.

At the culmination of an investigation into the present work of the state's existing historical organizations, the 15 - member committee presented recommendations ranging from the creation of a master plan for saving the heritage of the State Capitol Complex to the preservation of priceless Indian pictographs in West Texas.

Several recommendations were made relative to historical museums in the state. It was proposed (1) that the Historical Survey Committee initiate annual training seminars for museum curators, (2) that state colleges and universities be encouraged to initiate museology courses, (3) that an appropriation of $10,000 be made to provide grants-in-aid to small museums in the state, and (4) that accreditation standards for history museums in Texas be formulated by the Survey Committee.

The committee proposed that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department acquire the Seminole Canyon pictograph sites near Del Rio to protect the valuable prehistoric rock paintings located there. These are among the most significant Indian Pictographs in North America.

The group further recommended that the Parks and Wildlife Department continue to acquire other, smaller, historic sites such as the Sabine Pass battleground.

Also suggested was legislation designed to prevent the destruction or alteration of historic county courthouses, plus the appropriation of funds to restore deteriorating historic courthouses and their grounds. The Texas State Historical Survey Committee, state agency for historical preservation, would be the supervisor of such projects and funds.

Also proposed was the development of pilot oral history programs throughout the state. An appropriation of $10,000 to be used in making grants to colleges, universities, and historical organizations was recommended to finance the oral history projects.

The committee, in addition, advised the creation of an "historical resources development council" to plan ways to better publicize the story of Texas' unique historical heritage. To supplement this, they suggested the employment of an information specialist to write historical features for both in-state and out-of-state news media.

A pilot project to microfilm county records was recommended as a task for the Texas Library and Historical Commission.

History teachers got a favorable nod in the proposal to improve and increase teaching aids on Texas history. The Texas Legislative Council would make a study of teaching aids, including new ones to be developed for use on educational television.

The Speaker's Committee also advised the creation of regional historical resource centers to serve as loan depositories for library and archival materials. These centers would facilitate the work of researchers in out-of-the-way areas.

Junior High Wins Tourney

Cameron's A seventh grade team Saturday night won the first junior high tournament in city history over Rockdale Bs, 55-19.

Hearne won third place in consolation bracket by defeating the Cameron Bs. 37-32. Hearne lost to the Cameron A team in first round play last Friday night at Cameron Junior High Gym, 38-24.

Roger Williams, Cameron Junior High basketball coach, said forward Jayfus White and center Ronnie Bennett led Cameron scoring throughout the tournament.

Bennett is a 6-3 seventh grader and White showed poise and balance in moving the ball and shotmaking. Cameron's A-team has depth which kept any opponent 10 points out of reach in any of the three games.

Cameron As won a semi-final game over Temple Bonham, 41-31 while Rockdale Bs eased by Rogers 21-19 in the other semi-final Saturday afternoon.

Cameron Bs lost to the Rockdale Bs 24-10 in first round play and faced Hearne in the consolation finals 6 p.m. Saturday.

Rogers and Temple Bonham drew first-round byes to move into semi-final play with Cameron and Rockdale.

Rockdale As were playing in another junior high tournament and were unable to enter at Cameron, Williams said.

Cameron junior high players will enter a tournament January 28-30 at Taylor and a final tourney February 5-6 at Rockdale.

count is heavier each year through Cameron. An official count about two years ago placed the count about 7,000 cars each 24 hours. That figure is probably much higher in 1971. It, of course, includes local traffic.

When local and through traffic join to overcrowd highway and street conditions in a town, it is no longer commercially valuable or safe for such a load. Collisions increase. Service stations proliferate to the point they are over competitive.

If a division of the two highways is not considered, a routing of all traffic around Cameron is the other alternative. A third that traffic would continue to come through would and will be rejected by local drivers and Texas Highway Dept. officials.

Taylor is presently building a bypass for US 79. Gatesville is being bypassed on SH 36, we understand. Temple sometime ago built a bypass to Interstate 35, but business routes for SH 36 and US 190 continue to mid-town Temple.

Cameron would continue to have a Business Route 77 and 36 if both bypassed us. We would continue to have a Business 36 and through US 77 if the present thinking of Texas Highway Dept. is carried through. If both highways bypass us, a general removal to the bypass area will occur, as it did in Hillsboro, Brenham (which was looped south on SH 36 and others, just like this proposal), and numerous other towns.

Caldwell Nips Yoe In 48-45 Upset

The Yoemen travel to Westlake Friday after a 48-45 loss to Caldwell Tuesday.

Two free throws in the last seconds of play clinched a 48-45 Caldwell over Cameron Tuesday night in a 20-AA contest at Yoe Gym.

Don Mapejka hit the charities for Caldwell after a foul in the last seconds, Caldwell leading 46-45.

Guard Dean Prokisch hit 19 points to lead Cameron scoring while the Hornets' Gary Zweremann also hit 19.

The Caldwell win left both clubs with 2-1 marks in district play. It left Cameron with a 11-9 season record.

Caldwell junior varsity also defeated the junior Yoemen by 54-49. Paul Schigut leading the losing effort with 15 points for Cameron.

But the Yoe Frosh more than doubled the score on Caldwell freshmen with a 52-25 crushing, David Hollas leading Yoe scoring with 15.

Cameron led the varsity game at the half, 25-24, fell behind 37-33 in the third quarter, a margin Yoe shotmakers could not overcome in the final quarter.

Robert Brashear was held to two field goals and three foul shots or 7 points, about a third of his normal point production.

Hunters Bag 184 Deer In Public Hunt At Kerrville

KERRVILLE

Despite warm weather and high wind, hunters taking advantage of the public hunt on the Kerr Wildlife Management Area killed 184 deer, only 32 short of the number which biologists on the area recommended be harvested.

E. L. Young, project leader on the management area, said the weather restricted deer movement during the latter part of the hunt, but hunter success increased whenever one of the infrequent cold fronts moved through the area.

Of the 728 permit holders selected during a public drawing in Austin, 80 per cent showed up to hunt, and 32 per cent of these were successful.

Young said hunting on the management area was probably much harder than hunting on ranches since deer within the area's deer-proof fence eat nothing but native foods instead of relying on feeders or oat fields.

The deer taken during the 31 days of hunting were in good to excellent condition, according to Young. Average weight of yearling bucks on the area had increased seven pounds since 1968, the year the deer-proof fence was erected.

Biologists believe yearlings are an indicator of herd condition, since their nutritional requirements are greater than older deer. Antler condition of yearling bucks also improved, according to Young.

Young said the 779 deer killed during the past three seasons have reduced the herd to a safe level, and there is ample food available.

He said there is no danger of a die-off on the Kerr Area from the drought which grips the Edwards Plateau. The either - sex hunts have removed many deer which would be in danger of dying should the drought continue.

Even the sparrow
...found a nesting place in the church of the early believers. That temple was a reverent place where devoted souls could find God. It had an outer court where all men might come, followed by the Court of Israel, which was open only to the Hebrews. In the center was the Court of the High Priests. It was dominated by the Altar of Sacrifice where worshipers brought God their best goods.
Every step they took in this approach was more sacred. Yet a warm welcome within the Altar awaited the little sparrow. Here she could build her nest and raise her young.
But oh, how much more important are the children of God, than the life of a sparrow. How wonderful that we too, can enter the church and stand in this holy place, sheltered by the protecting love of a great God.
Welcome to church this week. He welcomed the sparrow ...
He welcomes you.

TMA On State Budget...

'Too Little For Too Much'

"Our Texas budget leaves too little to spend on too much," was the major conclusion of the Texas Manufacturers Association as it released the results of long-term budget research in Austin at year's end.

Release of the booklet, "Texas Budget 1971," came at a time when concerned Texans see indications that state spending during 1972-73 could outdistance 1970-71 by at least 16 percent.

A warning of possible high spending during 1972-73 is contained within the recommendation by the Legislative Budget Board for additional "bare budget" costs of $1.0 billion.

These recommended funds added to previous commitments of some $6.3 billion, signal a grand total of $7.3 billion to run the state in 1972 and 73.

Spending by the Legislature has soared above recommended appropriations, but now the session started January 12 will begin with a spending goal 16 percent greater than last session. The major dilemma of the Texas budget recommendation is that desired expenditures are some $644 million in excess of present revenue from taxes and other funds.

Using a brief comparison to describe the detailed research by Texas Manufacturers Association, the state budget situation could be compared to that of the average working many who of the average working man who must meet a burden of bills.

For example, a typical earner receives a net payroll check of $600 every month; however, $400 may be required for his pledged commitments. Although he should limit extra spending to $200 or less, his wants may consume $300, so he can only slip farther into debt.

On the other hand, the state has no income limitation. If it plans to overspend, the answer to the problem is a tax bill to make up the difference.

The 1970-71 Texas state budget totals some $6.3 billion; however, 80 percent of it is pledged to previous commitments. The major portion of this total, some $2.970 billion, is dedicated by the state consitution to such programs as state highways, federal grants-in-aid, and others. In order to "thaw" these frozen funds, the constitution must be changed.

Another 33 percent of the total budget, some $2.087 billion for 1970-71, is considered priority money and goes for the Legislature's high consideration programs like education, teacher retirement, farm - to - market roads, welfare assistance, and others.

These priority funds are protected by laws passed in the Legislature at a time when they were considered Texas' main spending objectives; therefore, they can also be changed by the Legislature to free funds.

Finally, available general revenue of $1.233 billion or 20 percent of the total budget (that portion which is most in the news), is the "leftover" which must be used for current programs and the general operation of state government after the "pledged funds" (80 percent) are assigned.

Research efforts by TMA strongly suggest that certain reforms be undertaken to release pledged portions of the budget. In accordance, all segments of the controllable budget should be reapportioned or reassigned, in other words considered anew, in order to meet present needs and thus avoid increased taxes.

Lions Told Insurance Rate Story

Six percent of the households are responsible for 45 percent of the auto accidents, William Harding told Cameron Noon Lions at their luncheon meeting Monday.

Harding, director of Public Relations Education for the Texas Association of Insurance Agents, was introduced by Jim Camp, program chairman.

He said speeding drivers and auto manufacturers had both had a hand in raising insurance rates. Harding said some car models considered to be moderately priced, cost almost a third more to repair than the average car.

He said test crashes of new model cars showed an average repair cost in realtion to speed at the time of collision at: 5 mph. . .$215; 10 mph. . .$541; 15 mph. . .$728.

Harding said critics of the auto insurance industry have not been realistic. He said the ultimate threat is a take-over by the federal government. "Look at Medicare," Harding said. "Estimated that by 1970 the cost would be $4 billion. What did it actually cost? They admit it has cost $7 billion, they've raised the rates and cut the coverage. And you can have the same happy thrill in auto insurance."

Gov. Smith OKs 6 Action Grants

AUSTIN

Governor Preston Smith has approved six action grants totaling $136,268 to five state planning regions and the Department of Public Safety to upgrade communication and information system as a means of speeding up apprehension of criminals.

The grants were among 31 awards approved by the Governor on recommendation of the Texas Criminal Justice Council at its regular monthly meeting.

Judge Joe Frazier Brown, executive director of the Council, called the six grants "a giant step" in enhancing law enforcement capabilities for coping with the state's burgeoning crime rate.

By means of the grants four regional law enforcement teletype networks will be expanded or upgraded with faster equipment.

The award to the Department of Public Safety will clear a road block to updating criminal histories for conversion to computer accessibility.

The grant, for $13,700 will be used to employ inmate typists of the Texas Department of Corrections to expedite processing of fingerprint data, eliminating a 70-day backlog which has caused delay in updating criminal histories.

To continue one year, the project is subject to an in-kind match of $11,123 by DPS.

Other grants designed to produce faster and more effective information and communication services included:

Central Texas Council of Governments, Belton, $15,027 for upgrading of the Central Texas regional teletype network by replacing manual equipment with automatic.

Covering six counties, the network has terminals in the sheriff's offices of Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, Milam and Mills counties, and in police department of Temple, Killeen, Copperas Cove and Rockdale.

Cash match will be $4,200 with in-kind match of $6,684.

County Teachers Association Has January Meeting

The Milam County Teachers Association met at Rockdale in the high school band hall Tuesday evening.

Guest speaker was Billy Snow, director, division of special services of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Snow spoke on "Legislative program of TSTA" and "The Task Force Committee Report."

Listed in "Who's Who in American Education" and "Who's Who in the South and Southwest," Snow has wide experience in public school work, including classroom teacher, and elementary and junior high principal.

New Law Gives Consumer Credit Rating Protection

COLLEGE STATION

A consumer will have the legal right, beginning January 23, to review information concerning himself on file in credit-reporting agencies, announces Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension specialist in home management at Texas A&M University.

The new legislation passed by Congress states that anyone refused employment, credit or insurance because of a bad credit report must automatically receive the names and address of the reporting agencies.

The law also gives the consumer the right to require correction of any false information in his credit files. If the consumer disputes the information, the agency must re-investigate.

The consumer also has the right to sue for damages resulting from negligence on the part of the credit-reporting agency.

Anyone who is deliberately obtains information from a consumer-reporting agency under false pretenses will be violating federal criminal law.

An officer or employee of the agency who knowingly makes unauthorized disclosure of confidential information from a consumer's file will also be violating federal criminal law.

The best safeguard a consumer can make is to be sure he has a good credit rating by making payments on time.

A few late payments won't be considered a poor credit risk, but chronic late payments sometimes are reported against a consumer.

Rep. Kubiak To Attend Education Conference

State Rep. Dan Kubiak will be one of three legislators representing the State of Texas at a Four-State Conference on Directions to Better Education in Dallas Thursday and Friday, January 28 and 29.

Also representing Texas will be Senator Barbara Jordan of Houston and Senator Joe Bernal of San Antonio.

The conference is sponsored jointly by the State Education Agencies of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas. It will focus on the changing role of state education agencies in providing leadership for elementary and secondary education.

FARM PRICES

Prices received by Texas farmers on Dec. 15 were 3 points or 1 percent less than in Nov. and 10 points or 4 percent below a year ago, said the Texas Crops and Livestock Reporting Service. Livestock and livestock products were 1 percent below last month and 10 percent below a year ago. Hog prices continued their downward trend.

Senator Watson To Head Environmental Committee

Senator Murray Watson Jr. has been appointed chairman of the Committee on Environmental Matters and vice chairman of the Insurance Committee by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Watson, who entered the Texas Senate in 1963 after serving thee terms in the Texas House of Representatives, termed his Senate appointments for the 62nd Legislature " the best I have had since entering the Senate."

"I am very pleased with my committee assignments," the veteran Central Texas legislator said, "and I am particularly pleased to have been appointed to the chairmanship of the new Committee on Environmental Matters.

"This committee offers a real challenge and an opportunity to serve all the people of Texas. The committee will be concerned with all matters that affect our environment --- pollution of our air and water, the disposal of solid waste, noise pollution, and many other areas," he said.

Watson said the Committee on Environmental Matters will work closely with three other committees on which he will serve, Water and Conservation, Transportation, and Oil and Gas.

"Each of these committees is essential to our environment, and it is my desire and plans to maintain close liaison with these and other committees which will affect the environment of Texas," he added.

Watson's other committee appointments include Agriculture and Livestock; Banking; Constitutional Amendments; Jurisprudence; Legislative, Congressional and Judicial Districts; Finance; and State Affairs.

New Law Increases VA Pensions

Increased payments averaging between 9 and 10 percent for approximately 1.6 million veterans and survivors on the Veterans Administration pension rolls are provided in a bill signed into law by the President on December 24, according to Jack Coker, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco.

He reported the bill also raised income limitations that determine if, and how much, VA pension can be awarded to disabled veterans, and widows and children of deceased veterans.

VA pension is paid for disabilities and deaths not due to military service.

The new law was designed to avoid a drop in income for those "current law" pensioners whose Social Security increased during 1970 and who would have had veterans pension benefits reduced beginning January 1, 1971.

An increase in benefits was also given to parents receiving dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC).

Coker said the income limit controlling the receipt of pension was increased by $300 for both "protected" and "current law" pensioners, as well as parents receiving DIC.

Jobless Rate Highest In Nine Years

WASHINGTON

Unemployment rose slightly in December while total employment remained essentially unchanged, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported.

The overall unemployment rate edged up from 5.8 percent in November to 6.0 percent in December, reaching the highest mark in 9 years.

Nonfarm payroll employment (seasonally adjusted) rose by 290,000 in December, reflecting the ending of the automobile strike. A large increase in manufacturing employment more than offset a decline in trade.

There were 4.6 million unemployed persons in December, the same as in November. After seasonal adjustment, unemployment edged upward slightly, by about 120,000, and the overall unemployment rate moved up to 6.0 percent.

Jobless rates for the major labor force groups showed little change in December, though all have edged up in recent months.

The jobless rate for white workers remained at 5.5 percent. The rate for Negroes, on the other hand, returned to its October level of 9.3 percent, after declining slightly in November.

Rates for married men, all adult men, adult women, and teenagers were not significantly different from their November levels.

Baptists Ask Voter Extension

DALLAS

The Christian Life Commission of the 1.8 - million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas Friday called on Texas Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. to extend the time for voter registration at least one month beyond the January 31 deadline.

A statement released at the quarterly meeting of the commission here said thousands of Texas voters will be disenfranchised because of "confusion concerning Texas election laws."

"Although a federal court ruled last week in Houston that Texas's annual voter registration is unconstitutional," said James Dunn, the commissioner's chief executive, "most voters do not realize the ruling did not effect this year's voter registration deadline.

"We are confident," Dunn continued, "that Mr. Dies, as chief election official of this state, will extend the deadline to allow Texas residents who are still confused about the meaning of the ruling, to register and not lose their voting privilege for the coming year."

Dunn said the confusion is also contributed to by the fact that many 18-year-olds, recently given the right to vote in federal elections by the U.S. Supreme Court, are not yet aware of voter registration deadlines.

In other action, the commission re-elected Orba Lee Malone, an El Paso attorney, as chairman, and named Joe Trull, pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, Austin, as vice chairman.

NameChange For Cotton Promotion

NEW YORK

In a major re-design of corporate structure, the name of the Cotton Producers Institute has been changed to Cotton Incorporated, according to J. Dukes Wooters, Jr., executive vice president and general manager.

"The new name and other changes are all designed to project a more business-like atmosphere reflecting the intensity of our efforts to get more cotton on the market," he said.

The Cotton Producers Institute was formed about four years ago after cotton farmers voted in a referendum to contribute $1 per bale for use in research and promotion of cotton and cotton products.

"Cotton Incorporated is placing major emphasis on the sale of cotton to textile mills through marketing directors experienced in fiber sales and sales management. We're knocking on mill doors and convincing them that cotton is the best fiber they can possibly use."

Wooters, who has directed reorganization of the cotton trade group into a marketing and sales-oriented team of textile experts, added, "Cotton Incorporated's marketing services are being considerably broadened to bring mills, manufacturers and retailers of cotton products every advantage of comprehensive market research, fashion trend forecasting and promotional support for a wide and diverse range of consumer goods."

A technical services program, based in Raleigh, N. C., will also assist mills and manufacturers in the formative stages of fabrication for spinning, weaving, knitting, dyeing and finishing.

The entire research team was recently moved to Raleigh from Memphis, Tenn., "so we could be adjacent to the mills, the first customer for our cotton fiber," said Wooters.

The product research programs are geared to the market place, and the new location will offer the latest in-house laboratory facilities for conducting extensive fabric development and agricultural research programs.

"We found that we could actually perform some of our research and save money at the same time," he added.

"Recent breakthroughs by our research team in trend - setting knit constructions, dyeing and finishing processes, printing systems, open-spinning techniques, and perhaps most important, revolutionary easy-care innovations," Wooters said, "make it essential for cotton to assist its trade and consumer customers in adopting these developments."

Holiday On Ice Show In Roman Style

"A Roman Holiday", combining all the pomp and splendor of the days of Nero and Caesar, brings a lavish and military precision touch to the huge production spectacle that adds glamour to the first half of the Silver Anniversary edition of Holiday On Ice.

Carol and Clive Phipson, outstanding skaters from Britain, are starred in this portion of the spectacular that comes to the Heart O' Texas Coliseum for shows on January 26, 27, 28, and 29.

Carol Phipson is the Golden Goddess and Clive Phipson the heroic Roman soldier. They present solo offerings that bring out the spectacular skating talents they both possess. Then their artistry is combined in a sizzling pair routine titled "Love Pas De Deux".

The ending of the "Roman Holiday" brings scores of skaters on the ice in a Donn Arden creation of a Flag Drill that is one of the most colorful presentations ever seen on ice.

The "Roman Holiday" leaves them laughing with a comedy takeoff on Anthony and Cleopatra featuring the ace comedians, Little Lito as "Cleo" and Michel Bagneris as "Tony".

Tanner Is Assoc. VP

BELTON

Dr. William G. Tanner, president of Mary Hardin-Baylor College, was elected vice president of the Texas Baptist School Administrator's Association at a recent Dallas meeting.

Others elected to office were Dr. Guy D. Newman, president of Howard Payne College, as president and President Jack Byrom of San Marcos Baptist Academy, as secretary.

The group is composed of the presidents of all Texas Baptist schools and colleges.

Accent on Health

One of the fastest growing causes of adult disability in this country is emphysema, a disease affecting the lungs.

Causes and effects of emphysema were known, but the disease received greater emphasis in 1964, says the Texas State Department of Health. A report that year by the U. S. Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health incriminated cigarette smoking as a contributing cause of the disease. It was found that for cigarette smokers the death rate from chronic bronchitis and emphysema was six times greater than for non-smokers. Emphysema and chronic bronchitis are closely related although they may develop independently. Emphysema often develops from chronic bronchitis.

Deaths due to emphysema have increased about five times in the past 10 years. Frequently the victims live in areas where air pollution is a constant problem.

Emphysema is described as an impairment of the bellows action of the lungs. In the course of the disease, the walls of the millions of tiny air sacs (called Alveoli) within the lungs are gradually destroyed. As the air spaces become larger, the victims find it increasingly difficult to expel all the air inhaled, and air becomes trapped in the lungs. As the disease progresses increasingly large amounts of air are trapped in the lungs, causing the lungs to become enlarged. At the same time, they become less efficient in exchanging oxygen for carbon dioxide.

Frequent respiratory infections, increasing breathlessness, a feeling of tightness in the chest, general weakness and a tendency to tire easily are signs of the disease.

Eventually, emphysema destroys the elasticity of the lungs--the ability to expand and contract. As interference continues, an increased burden is imposed on the heart which must work harder to pump blood through the damaged lungs. Under such strain, the heart may enlarge and eventually give out.

Emphysema doesn't strike suddenly but comes on gradually, sometimes after several seasons of bad colds, each accompanied by a severe cough and often with chronic bronchitis. The cough may become chronic.

There is no known cure of emphysema, but with early treatment under a doctor's care most patients can get some relief from their attacks of breathlessness. Treatment can enable many to live comfortably for a long time.

Grant Awarded For Business Consultants

AUSTIN

An organization of University of Texas students that offers free business of consultation to owners of small enterprises has received a $3,000 grant from the Mobil Oil Foundation.

The grant recognized the work of the Community Business Advisory Service (CBAS), in which about 100 advanced UT business students voluntarily participate. The students frequently visit their "clients" in East Austin, many of whom are from minority backgrounds.

Accounting procedures and marketing techniques are among two of several areas in which the students lend assistance.

Save On Labor, Not Materials

If you're having a new room added to your house, get two or three bids on the same specifications. By going over each item to be furnished, you may be able to cut the cost by doing some of the painting, tiling or paneling yourself.

But don't pinch pennies at the expense of good-quality materials. You'll save in the long run with better materials and your family will receive greater pleasure from your new room.

How To Get Along With The Painters

The ideal way to get along with the painters would be to move out when they move in. But most families face up to the ordeal in the expectation that the agony of a house in upheaval will be followed by the ecstasy of a shining, clean, well-ordered home.

There are, however, some steps you can take to ward off the inevitable headaches.

Before the painters come, wrap valued vases and bric-a-brac in old sheets and stash them in a closet or chest. Remove switch plates so that the painter can get at the wall underneath.

As to the pictures, if they are to be rehung in the same locations, leave the picture hooks in the walls. If you put up new hooks, place a strip of cellophane tape beneath the hook to prevent the plaster from splitting.

Take down the curtains, window fixtures and kitchen equipment stored on high shelves.

When giving your instructions and selection of colors to the painter, keep in mind that colors vary with day and artificial light, with the angle at which light strickes, and --- as time goes on --- darken in tone. Painters are generally cooperative about setting up color samples for you to visualize.

While the painter is working try to get away from the house, at least by early afternoon. Visit a friend, to to a movie, meet your husband for dinner. When you return home you'll have renewed energy and enthusiasm to face the painters again.
